

CANDACE BRADY

Director

Candace hails from the Police side, and has held the ranks of Police Officer, Detective, Sergeant, Lieutenant, and Captain. She has worked city-wide in Rampart, Central, Communications, Narcotics, Detective Headquarters Division (DHD), Hollenbeck, 77th, Internal Affairs, Southeast, and Devonshire Divisions. In the various assignments, she had occasion to work with the Los Angeles County District Attorney's and the Los Angeles City Attorney's Offices, the Board of Police Commissioners, City Council members, and members of the Los Angeles Sheriff's Office, and, of course, members of our esteemed Los Angeles City Fire Department.

In retirement, she developed a passion for patient advocacy. This endeavor began, in large part, after her own experience with cancer. Candace's skills as an attorney seemed to meld with this new calling. As a patient advocate, she has participated in lobbying State and Federal legislators for research funding or support on various bills, reviewed scientific research proposals for both governmental and private entities, and had the opportunity to educate herself on the disease by attending numerous conferences and seminars on a myriad of issues pertaining to the subject. Currently, she is an Advocate in Science for the Komen Foundation, and reviews studies and informed consents used in clinical trials for a local university.

The goal in Candace's new position with LARFPA is to work with other Board members, and for you – the members. In that vein, she would love your input as to what the organization can do or be for you. Please contact her at DirectorBrady@larfpa.com with feedback or suggestions.
